Only the tortures of the medical rack are comparable to the agonies which many women suffer through the peculiar weaknesses and diseases of their delicate, feminine structure. Nothing less than unbearable torment would induce sensitive-minded women to submit to the intolerable methods of the average doctor in dealing with diseases of this nature.

That there is "a better way" than these detestable "examinations" and "local applications" is a truth which some women have yet to learn, although thousands are already rejoicing in the knowledge. They have found in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription the one unfailing remedy which heals feminine weaknesses at their very source. This marvelous "Prescription" restores absolute health to the system, stops weakening drains and ulcerated conditions, gives elastic strength to the supporting ligaments, vitality to the nerve centers, and complete womanly vigor to the entire constitution.

It is the perfect fortifier and regulator of women at every critical period in their development from the time when they merge into "womanhood" until the "change of life." It is the one medicine which makes men and women safe and almost free from pain.

A lady living at 7 Park Avenue, Chicago, Ill., writes: "I myself suffered a long time from female weakness and seemed to be going into a decline. Took several bottles of your 'Favorite Prescription' and it saved me from a grave illness. I now enjoy perfect health and will ever praise the wonderful efficacy of your medicine."

The best popular medical book in the world is Dr. R. V. Pierce's 200-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser. It will be sent free, paper bound, for 21 one-cent stamps, for the cost of mailing only. Address the Doctor at Buffalo, N.Y., or send 31 stamps for cloth-bound copy.

LOVELY HYPOCRISY.

Little Tricks Which Show What a Consummate Actress is Patti.

A dramatic writer of San Francisco tells the following amusing story of Patti's last visit to the Pacific coast. He was at the station with many others to meet the great diva when she arrived. "The diva stepped from the train," said the San Franciscan, "and after inhaling a lung full of fog remarked: 'Oh, this is heaven! All my troubles are paid for. Thank heaven, I breathe the air of San Francisco once again!' This was all very sweet in the high priced canyon bird, and the newspaper boys were all delighted.

"However, it was only a short time before I went down to the train to meet Patti at Salt Lake City. She was descending from her car, and as her feet touched the ground she exclaimed: 'Thank heaven, I breathe the air of Salt Lake City once more! All my troubles are paid for. Oh, this is heaven! The newspaper boys were all delighted with her.

"As for myself, on both of these occasions I was delighted also—with the diva's lovely hypocrisy, that accursed sin which the poet tells us takes the best men in. I never thought Patti much of an actress, but I changed my mind in this respect after witnessing these two exhibitions."

Nothing in the way of "lovely hypocrisy" can surprise anybody who has ever seen Patti on the concert stage. She rushes to the footlights, a vision of smiling radiance, eyes swimming with the moisture of overpowering joy and a look of pleading affection on her countenance, as if the present moment were the happiest of her life and as if she were consumed by an eager desire to embrace and kiss everybody in the audience. And she does it all so naturally and spontaneously that the majesty of the assemblage is instantly "mashed" and would cheerfully lynch anybody who would intimate that there was any "acting" about it.

and as his arm around the suddenly aged form of his father. "Come," he said, "let us go back to mother. She will always be beautiful to me now," and they turned and gave place to the others.—New York World.

A Historic Old College.

The first Greek letter society—Phi Beta Kappa—was organized at William and Mary in 1776, and among the charter members were John Marshall, chief justice, and Bushrod Washington, associate justice, of the supreme court; Spencer Roane, who was considered the ablest jurist ever produced in Virginia; John Brown and Stephen T. Mason, senators from Virginia; William Short, minister to Spain and Holland, and Eliza Farnham, a native of Massachusetts, who established chapters at Yale and Harvard when he returned home. William and Mary was the first college to adopt the elective system of study and the honor system in the government of its students. The old building has been restored to almost its original condition, although in the days of its prosperity was double its present size.—Chicago Record.

What a Boer Will Eat.

The Transvaal Boer will eat almost anything in the flesh, fish or fowl line, for all is grist that comes to his gastronomic mill, and the following mixture is voted most delectable by the majority of the rougher classes: A great square slice is cut off a loaf made of coarse unsifted meal and covered with a thick layer of jam, preferably strawberry. A row of sardines is then placed on top, and the oil from the sardine box is liberally poured over the whole. A loud smacking of lips and other manifestations of thorough appreciation accompany the disposal of this delicate bonne-bouche. But the unsophisticated Boer only indulges in this luxury when he means to enjoy a special treat, quite regardless of expense.—Chambers' Journal.

WEATHER FROGS.

Small Living Barometers Which Are Imported From Germany.

Attached to a glass-sided box seen in a bird store window was a placard marked "Weather Frogs." Within the box, perched on two long wooden rods, placed lengthwise of it and nearer the top than the bottom, like the higher perches in a birdcage, were a number of the weather frogs themselves. Some just then were brown, and one was green. They were little tree frogs of a kind found through Europe, those in the window having been imported from Germany.

When full grown, these tiny tree frogs may be little more than an inch in length. They take the color of whatever object they may be resting on—brown for wood, green if on a leaf; placed in a blue glass jar they will become blue. They may be heard but not seen, so closely in color do they resemble whatever they may have perched upon. They are called weather frogs because at the approach of rainy or changeable weather they jump into the water, at the approach of clear weather they come out again.

In captivity the weather frog is kept in a glass jar or globe, which is covered at the top with a wire screen. Water is put in the bottom of the jar, and at a convenient height is placed something for the little frog to jump up on. The weather frog in captivity is fed on flies in summer and in winter on meal worms. Its food must be alive. Weather frogs sold here at retail for 20 cents apiece. Considerable numbers of them are brought to this country.—New York Sun.

THE CONTEST NEXT YEAR

In one year from now both of the great political parties will have chosen their national tickets and constructed their platforms for the last Presidential campaign of the nineteenth century. Unless there is a radical change in conditions, President McKinley will be re-nominated by the Republicans, and William Jennings Bryan will again be the standard bearer of the Democratic party. There will be no gold Democrats, nor a pretense of such a political anomaly. Of the 130,000 voters who supported Palmer and Buckner in 1893, the majority will have returned, sadder and wiser men, to their old party. A portion will have allied themselves, like the New York Sun, with the Republicans.

The Chicago platform, in the main, will be readopted by the Democrats, with the addition of such planks as will meet and cover the new issues that have arisen. The trust and the war policy of the administration will be condemned, and the scandalous conduct of the War Department will come in for vigorous denunciation. The Republican party, whatever its platform may contain, will go into the campaign as the sponsor of the trusts, for by its acts it will be judged. It will make no further pretense in favor of bimetallism. It will stand for the single gold standard and will appear as the opponent of the civil service principle. The Republican party in the coming campaign will have a whole lot of things to apologize for, and ready to answer for. It can point to no great achievement for the public good. The record will be one of unprecedented trust growth, government expenditures and federal taxation, and, judging from present appearances, of failure in the Philippine campaign. It will be hampered by a pack load of rotten beef, Mormonism and the persecution of war heroes.

The Democracy will be found on the popular side of every issue. It will have no apologies to make. It will wage an offensive warfare, and the present administration has furnished it plenty of material to do it with. The 8,500,000 of men who voted for Bryan in 1896 will go forward with unbroken ranks, reinforced by thousands who were led into the Republican ranks by false promises three years ago, and by thousands more of patriotic Republicans who can not go longer with an organization that is responsible for the blunders, incompetencies, and disgraces of Hanna-McKinleyism. Can any doubt be entertained as to the result?

TO MAKE IT EASIER.

According to a recent dispatch, Senator Stewart is out with a scheme to insure a full representation in the U. S. Senate. He proposes that the following paragraph be added at the end of section 15, title 2, chapter 1 of Revised Statutes:

"If on the third Tuesday after the organization of the legislature no person has received such majority, then on that day or any preceding day the person receiving the plurality of the votes cast, a majority of all the members elected to both houses being present and voting, shall be declared elected."

The venerable representative of the Southern Pacific who masqueraded under the title of "Senator from Nevada," evidently became tired of the sleepless nights of last winter before he hit upon the scheme of thwarting the will of the people by having Denon outright and securing the absence of Gulepie. There is a couple of votes came high, but he had to have them. Under his present scheme, he would have needed but sixteen votes, instead of twenty-three, and Wallace can always be relied on to furnish that many for any Californian in the Southern Pacific may choose to select.

It is needless to say that such a method would remove the last vestige of popular choice in the selection of U. S. Senators. If it had any other effect it would never have Stewart's approval. If he is so anxious to secure a full representation in the Upper House let him follow out his instructions and propose an amendment to the constitution electing Senators by the direct vote of the people. Had such a method been in vogue last fall Stewart would now be in California, where he belongs, and Nevada would be represented by a resident.—Times Review.

SOME of our eastern Republican exchanges favor the nomination of General Joe Wheeler for Vice President along with McKinley. Things are in a bad shape in the G. O. P. when they have to look for a Democratic war horse to pull the ticket through. But fighting Joe has too much horse sense to be led into such a trap. If the Pubs are so badly off for a war hero for a running mate for McKinley, why don't they take Otis? He is a hero, in their estimation, and what more do they want?

It is reported that troops will be sent to Alaska to hold our possessions there which Canada is trying to steal. A good idea. While fighting to acquire territory abroad, it is well enough to look a little out for what we have at home.

A startling incident, of which Mr. John Oliver of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in the most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying 'Electric Bitters,' and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement, I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cts per bottle at S. J. Hodgkinson's Drug Store.

The Diet of the Consumptive.

Dr. Cutter of New York, one of the editors of the Dietetic and Hygienic Gazette, declares the most important part of the treatment of tuberculosis patients is the diet. It should be says, consist largely of animal foods. Of these eggs and milk should preponderate. Eggs are best given raw when the patient can take them thus. The albumen of the egg is similar to blood albumen and is digested, or rather absorbed, into the blood without undergoing an elaborate digestive process. The white of the egg, mixed with water, is often tolerated when the yolk cannot be borne by the stomach. Bone marrow of the ox he regards as of greater value than cod liver oil. Good butter may be used freely and should be spread thickly on thin slices of bread. Heavy meals are to be avoided. The patient should take small quantities of food between meals.

It is said by an Atchison cynic that as soon as a woman is a widow she loses all fixedness of purpose and can be turned in her plans as easily as the weather cock on a barn. The women will sniff at it but a woman who has once had a husband to do the deciding is at a disadvantage when she has no one to blaze the way.—Atchison Globe.

UNTO THE END.

I knew not where tomorrow's path may wind,
Nor what the future holds, but this I know,
Whichever way my feet are forced to go,
I shall be given courage to the end.

Though God that awful gift of his may send
We call long life, where headstones in a row
Hide all of happiness, yet be it so,
I shall be given courage to the end.

If dark the deepening shadows be that blend
With life's pale sunlight when the sun dips low,
Though joy speeds by and sorrow's steps are slow,
I shall be given courage to the end.

I do not question what the years portend—
Or good or ill whatever wind may blow;
It is enough enough for me to know
I shall be given courage to the end.
—Ella Wheeler Wilcox in Youth's Companion.

A LITTLE BIT OF A DARKY.

He Told His Story Well and Reaped His Reward.

He was a little bit of a darky, not much bigger than a jump of coal and not much whiter, and when I called him up to do an errand for me across the street his eyes snapped as if they were electrified.

"What is your name?" I inquired.

"Tank, boss," he answered, with a bow and a grin.

"That's a queer kind of a name. Your people aren't temperance folks, are they?"

"Deed, boss, I dunno. Dey calls me Tank, but my name's Pasquotank Perquimans."

"Oh!" I laughed. "That's name enough for two kids like you. Where do you come from?"

"Ise f'm Norf' Ch'liny, boss."

"What are you doing so far from home?"

"Doin' the best I kin, boss."

He stopped a moment to study.

"How much have you made today?"

"When I gets de 10 cents you's gwinter gib me," he said, with a shrewd little smile—I had not agreed upon a price at all—"an I gets 10 cents mo' f'm de nex' gem'man it'll make 20 cents, boss."

"Is that all? You can't live on 20 cents a day, can you?"

A shadow, if a shadow could show there came into the little black face, and with it a hard line as of determination.

"I so gotter lib, boss," he said. "I can't die, fer dey ain't nobody but me ter take keer ob mammy, an she's mighty polly mos' ob de time."

Possibly Pasquotank Perquimans was working on my sympathies and his story may have been told many a time before, but I think not, and I know that his revenue for that day was more than 20 cents.—Washington Star.

He Was No Authority.

The New York Times relates an anecdote concerning Mr. Howells that is good enough to be true, whether it is or not. According to report, a dispute as to the words "lunch" and "luncheon" recently arose between Mr. and Mrs. Howells. Mr. Howells championed "lunch" as the proper term, while his wife defended "luncheon." At last, at Mr. Howells' suggestion, they appealed to the Century Dictionary to settle the question. "Well, I was right, after all!" he exclaimed in triumph, and he read aloud the following extract quoted as showing correct usage: "We lunched fairly upon little dishes of rose leaves delicately preserved."

"From what author is that sentence taken?" inquired Mrs. Howells.

"Why, I declare, from W. D. Howells!"

"Pshaw!" was the retort. "He's no authority."

Curious Bird Habits.

It is a well known fact that if the young of almost any kind of bird are taken from the nest before they can fly the old ones will feed them most attentively if the cage in which the little birds are inclosed is placed somewhere where the parents can reach it, and a popular but erroneous belief is current that they do this for a time, and end by poisoning the young ones.

This, however, is a mistake, the fact being that at a certain stage of a young bird's existence, when it is naturally able to begin catering for itself, the parent birds, also quite naturally, cease to attend it, and then, if the birdlings are shut up in the cage and their custodian has not thought of placing some food at their disposal they necessarily die, not from poison administered by the parents, but from starvation.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Producing a Good Impression.

"I suppose," said the editor as he spread the manuscript out on the desk in front of him, "that you call this poetry?"

"Not at all," answered the young man who had submitted it. "I designate it merely as 'verification'."

When the editor had recovered from his astonishment, he made haste to say: "You may leave it. I have no doubt I shall find considerable merit in it, and I shall be glad to look it over carefully at my leisure."—Chicago Post.

Worse Than the Disease.

Handout Harry—I wasted de hull mornin' yesterday readin' a piece in de paper about how ter git rich.

The pass Teddy—Didn't it tell how yer could do it?

Handout Harry—It didn't toll no way but workin'—San Francisco Examiner.

The best donkeys come from Arabia. They have clean, smooth coats hold their heads high and are used only for riding purposes. Many are sent to Persia, where they sell for high sums. They are well looked after and their harnessings are of the richest.

Heir Dusen, a German traveler who explored the west coast of Patagonia, says that mosses of all species are developed there to an extraordinary degree. They grow in immense heaps the explorer sinking to his armpits in some of them.

A Terrible Threat.

"George," said Mrs. Younglove "do you know that you have kissed me only once during the past three hours?"

"Yes," he replied "and if you eat any more onions I may make it three hours and a half next time."

She could only tremble and order it if it were to turn out that her love had been misplaced, after all.—Chicago News.

"We have saved many doctor bills since we began using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in our home. We keep a bottle open all the time and whoever any of my family or myself begin to catch cold we begin to use the cough Remedy, and as a result we never have to send away for a doctor and incur a large doctor bill, for Chamberlain's Cough Remedy never fails to cure. It is certainly a medicine of great merit and worth."—D. S. Meekle, general merchant and farmer, Mattie, Bedford county, Pa. For sale by W. Pinniger.
It is very hard to stand idly by and see our dear ones suffer while awaiting the arrival of the doctor. An Albany, N. Y., dairyman called at a drug store there for a doctor to come and see his child, then very sick with croup. Not finding the doctor in, he left word for him to come at once on his return. He also bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which he hoped would give some relief until the doctor should arrive. In a few hours he returned, saying the doctor need not come, as the child was much better. The druggist, Mr. Otto Scholz, says the family has since recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to their neighbors and friends until he has a constant demand for it from that part of the country. For sale by W. Pinniger.

NEWS FROM NEVADA SOLDIERS.

Three of the Boys are Wounded in Battle.

RECEIVE COMPLIMENTS FOR BRAVERY.

Lieutenant Gignoux of the Nevada Cavalry Writes to the "Journal."

The strong, hardy constitutions of the Nevada soldiers in the Philippines are able to withstand the dank, unhealthy climate, as is shown by this letter from the second officer of the First Nevada Cavalry. They are all fighters, too, having taken active part in several sanguinary conflicts, where it was evident that they possess an ample portion of that well known characteristic, "Nevada grit."
Here is Lieutenant Gignoux's letter, which is dated June 25th, and was written at Manila.
"I snatched a moment while in town to write and let you know that we have been armed with the Krag-Jorgensen carbines and are mounted. We got into our first battle on the 10th of June, while opposite Paranaque, and the excitement was something delightful. We all enjoyed it after the first nervous tension wore off. Our boys are born fighters, and we actually had hard work to keep them from charging the "cursed niggers."
"That was the first time in my life I ever had the slightest regret that I was tall of stature. For full half an hour I could not move (but had to nevertheless) without a bunch of mosquito like bugs whistling around and occasionally alighting with a dull plug. Contrary to all the story book talk, I did not think of home and mother, for I was kept too busy during the whole fight. There were wounded men to be seen to and the boys' fire had to be controlled, etc.
"Three of our boys were hit but not hurt seriously. M. Taylor, neck; Henry Neibaur, ankle, and James Tague, bruised on the thigh. A lieutenant and one man of the 14th Infantry who were with us on the line were hit. Four Nevada boys gave out and had to quit that day, but they were nothing in proportion to those who fell out of other organizations. That night the 13th Infantry was short 500 men.
"On the 20th our boys led the advance under General Wheaton from Imass to Desmaries and were complimented on the firing line they kept for eight miles over rice fields, under a dropping fire. The troop is now at Juana, where Lincoln has been buying horses. Our fun will begin as soon as the boys get accustomed to their mounts, for we will be used as scouts and have no end of work. I learned yesterday from the brigade surgeon that when we were in working order we would be sent out to disperse bands of "niggers" whenever they were located. Neat work in a way, but very apt to be nasty if the force of the enemy has been under-estimated.
"We have a small cloud-burst every afternoon or during the night now. You can see the effect in the sick report. "Scotty" and Wright are both enjoying good health, and yours truly is normal so we "stack up" pretty well.
"We were able to enjoy the novel sight of a total lunar eclipse on the night of the 23d. As the weather bureau did not forecast it—the branch located here, at any rate—I have come to the conclusion that it is not to blame for all the changes in weather.
"Yours truly,
"F. M. GIGNOUX."
Announcement.
I have just received a complete line of working and dress shirts of the latest patterns and styles, which I will sell at bedrock prices. I wish to call particular attention to a working shirt I am handling. It is undoubtedly the best working shirt that was ever sold on the Coast for the money. Call and examine the same.
I have all the latest patterns in golf and business suits, in silk and madras cloth.
I am pleased to announce that I have secured the agency of the Wheeler over-all, famous on the Coast as being the best fitted and most durable over-all on the market. It is divided, triple-seamed and made of the heaviest and best denim. Try a pair and be convinced.

Justice Court.
A. F. Sansome was arrested on a charge of vagrancy, to which he pled not guilty.
William Smith, the man under arrest for stealing a gold ring from a woman named Louisa Musick, was found guilty at his second jury trial, and was sentenced by Judge Linn to $100 fine or 50 days in the county jail. He has now joined the sanitary improvement association commonly known as the "chain gang."
A number of drunks were tenderly escorted by the police to slumber in the wooden goal designated in slang parlance as the "calaboose."

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Makes the food more delicious and wholesome

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

AGGREGATION OF CASUALTIES.
Four Men Injured by Accidents Yesterday.
Louis Hardin, who runs the edging saw at Lee's mill in Dog Valley, came to town yesterday afternoon with a badly injured hand, which was dressed by Drs. Phillips. Hardin was edging lumber when another person accidentally struck his right hand, throwing it in contact with the circular saw, lacerating it and almost cutting off the middle finger. Although the injury is serious, Mr. Hardin will not lose his hand.
John Foster is in town being treated for a fracture of the right forearm, which was broken by a falling tree while working at the Pixley and Lonkey logging camp two miles above Verdi. Mr. Foster was brought to Reno, where the fracture was set by Dr. Phillips. He was resting easily last night.
Yesterday morning while Louis Holzer, an employee of the Pixley and Lonkey logging camp, was driving a wedge with a sledge, a sharp sliver flew from the wedge striking him on the right leg, penetrating the knee joint. He was brought to Reno, where the steel sliver was removed. Although it is a very serious wound, the physicians hope for good results. Mr. Muldoon, one of the foremen of the Pacific Construction Co. engaged in building the paper mill at Floriston, met with a painful accident yesterday. A heavy bar of iron fell on his right foot, crushing it badly. He came to Reno on the swing train for treatment. As several toes were mashed flat he will be unable to return to work for some time.
A Thousand Tongues.
Could not express the rapture of Annie E. Springer, 1125 Howard St., Philadelphia, Pa., when she found that Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption had completely cured her of a hacking cough that for many years had made life a burden. All other remedies and doctors could give her no help, but she says of this Royal Cure—"It soon removed pain in my chest and I can now sleep soundly, something I can scarcely remember doing before. I feel like sounding its praise throughout the Universe." So will every one who tries Dr. King's New Discovery for any trouble of the Throat, Chest or Lungs. Price 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottles free at S. J. Hodgkinson's Drug Store; every bottle guaranteed.
Mrs. Bender's Will.
The San Francisco Post of a few days ago contained the following:
The will of Mrs. Ann Bender, who died July 23, leaving a cash deposit of $6,000, was filed for probate to-day.
The estate is devised to David A. and Charles T. Bender, sons of deceased, in trust for Flora I. Laughton, a daughter. At her death the money is to go to Elizabeth and Evelyn Laughton, grand-daughters of the deceased. David A. and Charles T. Bender are named as executors of the will. Deceased left six children, the youngest being 46 years of age.
State Agency.
The Reno Mercantile Company has taken the agency for the celebrated Bartlett Springs mineral water. This water is well known throughout the country, and the springs in California have gained renown for their curative qualities, hundreds of tourists from different parts of the world flocking there every year in search of health. It is said the water when bottled retains all its mineral qualities when shipped to a distance, so gives the user the same benefits he would receive at the famous springs.
Work on the Extension.
The track on the extension of the N.-O. is laid about four miles north of Carlo and the grading is finished about two miles beyond the end of the track. Where the present work is being done the grade is nearly a hundred feet to the mile. The work is being vigorously prosecuted and nearly half a mile of track per day is being laid. The road from present indications will be completed to Madalene Plains by the first of November.
Popular Entertainment.
The B. Y. P. U. will give a popular entertainment in the Baptist Church Friday evening, August 4th. J. Frank Foubie, the prince of entertainers, will furnish the program. This will be a rare treat for the people of Reno. General admission 35 cents, reserved seats 50 cents.
Merchant Tailoring.
Harry L. McDuffee, for the last seven years cutter for John Sunderland, has severed his connection with that firm and will open a first class merchant tailoring establishment in a few days. Notice of time and place will be given later.
Ice Cream Parlors.
The Palace Bakery rooms are not only the cosiest and most dignified place of its kind in town, but we also assert, without fear of contradiction, that our goods and service are far superior to any.
Stagnant Water in the River.
The water in the Truckee river is so low that above and below the Virginia street bridge it is actually stagnant. Large patches of green, slimy substance, known to non-scientists as "frog-spittle" have formed and presents anything but an inviting appearance, to say nothing about the sanitary effect, which certainly cannot be favorable to the health of the town.
The ditches are running full and it would be well if an arrangement could be made with the owners to let the water run for a day in the bed of the stream. It would flush the stagnant places near the town and perhaps prevent a large number of cases of malarial fever, which the present condition of the river seems likely to propagate.
Money not Forthcoming.
It was published a few days ago that $150 had been deposited to be wagered on McMillan gaining the decision in the gubernatorial contest case as against $600 in favor of Sadler. Yesterday a citizen, not a partisan of Sadler, materialized with a $600 wad, in the presence of the gentleman making the proclamation, and was informed that the money had been withdrawn and that the proposition was off. The $600 man said his currency would be ready any time until 3 P. M. today, to give the McMillan sportsman time to put up or shut up at the ratio of one to four.
Death of a Pioneer.
T. J. Connolly, a pioneer of Carson, died in that city last Monday. He was a soldier in the civil war, and a member of the G. A. R. He was an employee of the Carson Mint during Major Garrad's Superintendency. Tim was a staunch Democrat, a devout church man and lived up to his religion and principles. May his soul rest in peace.
